CONFIRMATION AT ST. LUKE'S CHURCH

Last Sunday was a notable day at St. Luke's. The Bishop of the Diocese, Rt. Revd. W. Cyprian Pinkham, D.D., was in attendance. His visitation to the Parish and Church, and the day was delightfully mild, many of the country members availed themselves of the opportunity of coming in to one or other of the services of renewing acquaintance with His Lordship afterwards.

His Lordship remarked how particularly well the Bishop looked and how wonderfully strong his voice remains, in spite of his years. He gave the service the Bishop read the Lesson and the Epistle, and an earnest and practical sermon on the Epistle for the day, taking as his text "I have therefore, O Lord our Righteousness." He then Celebrated at the Holy Communion. In the evening His Lordship administered the Holy Communion.

read the Lesson and preached a very solid and practical sermon on the Epistle of St. Paul to the Romans, the words therefrom, "The Lord our Righteousness." He also took part in the celebration at the Holy Communion of the Holy Synod, presided over by the solemn Rite of the Holy Synod, laying his hands upon the heads of 14 young people presented to him by the Rector. "Although the church was crowded with people, indeed, that not a few had to stand through the entire service, the reverent demeanor and sympathetic attitude in the prayers and hymns by the large congregation, and the solemn occasion indeed was immensely solemn, and as each candidate arose from kneeling before the Bishop after the reading of the Apostolic Rite, many a prayer was heard from the people, that he might be perpetually guided and enlightened."

young people present upon the heads of 1400 other young people, inasmuch that the entire service—the reverent demeanor and sympathetic interference in the prayers and hymns by the large congregation was most noticeable. The occasion indeed was immensely solemn, and as each candidate arose from kneeling before the Bishop after receiving the sacrament, the prayerer went up that that youth might be perpetually guided and comforted by the Holy Spirit of God, and kept strong in determination to do His will and fulfill His divine purpose.

season will be the competition games for the splendid Mitchell Challenge cup, donated last year by A. B. Mitchell, of Reed City.

Play for this cup commenced on February 6th last season, but the second season will start just as soon as 'Junior', who held the cup at present, has graduated from high school.

There were sixteen games played last year, and no club missed their turn. There was an average of two games a week which kept the interest in the gold trophy high.

Little Red Deer have their challenge in already, the first for this season, but others are expected to come 'in rapidly when the season opens.

This cup is won by the town winning club.

The standing at the end of last season was as follows: Innisfail, 5; Red Deer, 4; Little Red Deer, 3; Olds, 3; Didsbury, 1.

It is expected that more teams will challenge this season, and that the Mitchell Cup competitions will pro-

WEEKLY NEWS LETTER

One of the two rinks representing any club will be known as the "Junior rink," and must have 3 green curlers on it. A green will be recognized as one who has not curled previous to the beginning of the current season. An experienced curler may skip this rink. (Provided, however, able, one player may be substituted who has curled for one season prior to the current season. In this case such player must lead, and the rink using him will concede two points to their opponents. In no case may two players play on the "Junior rink" who have curled prior to one season before the current one.

Three Day Thrift Sale

Spend
and Save

As a Wind-up for November and an enthusiastic beginning for December, we are putting on a Three Days Thrift Sale, commencing on THURSDAY, NOV. 30th, and continuing for FRIDAY and SATURDAY, DECEMBER 1st and 2nd.

We had considered making special travelling allowances for out-of-town customers, but finally decided that it would be more fair to all if we reduced our prices to the very last limit, which we have done, and the lowness of our quotations coupled with the variety and extent of our merchandise offerings will amply repay our friends for coming, regardless of the distance.

INDISPENSABLE FOR HOME-MAKERS

It is not simply because it gives all the news and farming information that The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal is so highly valued throughout the Dominion. The housewives and home-makers are more carefully and thoughtfully considered in it than in any other similar publication, young people and children have pages specially provided for them, and there is provision made for all tastes and circumstances. Music, photography, natural history, biography, literature, travel, miscellany, wireless (radio) telephony, astronomy, philately, pedagogy, all find place in it. Many a young woman has had the first impulse towards a life's success come from some or other of these departments, which have changed to strike light in his mind and changed a whole course of life. You can never tell of what chance in life these are depriving their young people who have not yet become subscribers to The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal. The subscription price is only $2.00 per year. It is the greatest investment of the times.

SAYS THAT EARTH IS MERE PARASITIC BODY

Montreal, November 22.—That the limit of the universe is 300,000 light years away or more, was the statement made here last night in his lecture on astronomical investigations of light space, by Dr. Harlow Shapley, director of Harvard observatory. He showed that the earth is a mere parasitic body in the universe living entirely from what it gets from the sun, and that the reason why life as we know it, exists here, is that conditions are exactly suited to it. There might be some low forms of life on Mars, but no more, as its atmosphere is only half as dense as that on the top of Mount Everest.

INTERESTING PHASES OF RADIO

(By B. R. Cummings, Radio Engineer, General Electric Co.)
No.—This is the first of a series of ten stories by Mr. Cummings.

Radio may be defined as: "A system of communication whereby intelligence is transmitted with the speed of light, in all directions, for any desired distance, without the aid of any artificial medium, by the propagation and detection of electrical disturbances in space."

This definition would go to indicate the unique characteristics of radio, as a system of communication, where other systems of communication cannot be applied.

While the speed of transmission in radio is no greater than that of wire communication systems, it is equal to it. A radio message travels at the rate of 186,000 miles per second; more than one million times the speed of sound. A radio message can be heard by airplanes, by ships at sea, by submarines submerged in the sea, and in mines or other points under the surface of the earth.

Any distance, so far as we know, radio communication can be effected over any desired distance. Radio stations have already been established in the most remote parts of the world, and since the medium of transmission is light, it is from stars and planets is the same medium which transmits radio communication. It is reasonable to believe that a radio message can be propagated through space for a distance depending only on the amount of power which is put behind it.

The third inherent characteristic of radio, that is, its ability to transmit intelligence without the aid of any artificial medium, places it in a field absolutely its own. Not only does this permit communication with points otherwise inaccessible, such as, for example, aircraft, with ships and to inaccessible spots on land, but it eliminates the need of securing rights of way for transmission lines and their construction and maintenance. A radio system is, therefore, rendered more positive than wired systems in that it is not subject to the failures which frequently occur during the winter months in wire lines.

Differs Entirely
While the means utilized in radio differ entirely from those used in other forms of communication, it is possible to connect a radio system to a wire system, so that a telephone subscriber, sitting in his home, may talk by a wire line to a radio station where his voice is transferred to a radio transmitter, transmitted by radio, and again transferred to a wire system. This fact makes it possible to extend the range of wire telephone systems over areas which were heretofore considered impassable, by including in the wire telephone line a radio link which bridges the previously impassable section.

While a radio communication is broadcast in all directions, it would be desirable for some classes of work to be able to transmit only in one direction.

In One Direction
Senator Marconi, during his recent visit to the United States, made a plea for further investigation into the possibilities of directive radio transmission, whereby the message would be transmitted in one direction only.

He pointed out that in his early experiments he had succeeded in transmitting directly over short distances by using a reflector at the transmitting station, whereby the propagated waves were reflected and concentrated in one direction similar to a beam of light from a searchlight.

It should be remembered that it is not intended that radio communication should replace the wire telephone system. Its use will be restricted to communication between points where wire communication is not possible or applicable. This is due primarily to the fact that the number of radio communications which can be carried on simultaneously in a given area is limited, whereas in wire telephony the number of simultaneous communications which can be carried on is unlimited.

While directional radio communications are needed in commercial radio work in order that radio can be made a practical medium of communication, the directiveness of a wire system, such development will be intended not to replace wire systems but to supplement them by providing a means of communication in areas not lying between transmitting and receiving stations, and to secure power economically in the transmitter itself.

It should be remembered that while broadcast radio is serviceable in communicating with moving stations and for broadcasting work, commercial radio traffic is usually handled between fixed stations, and it would be desirable to be able to transmit from one to the other without having the message broadcast.

The foregoing has referred briefly to the characteristics of radio communication without touching upon the functioning of the apparatus itself. Many people witnessing for the first time a radio transmitter in operation are disappointed, for there is no evidence whatever of the phenomena occurring in its various circuits.

Its operation, however, includes a consideration of both the infinite and the infinitesimal; infinitesimal units of electricity, so small that they cannot reflect light, and therefore can never be seen moving under perfect and complete control of the operator, amplifying the human voice millions of times without distortion and transmitting it through space with almost infinite speed. In analyzing the phenomena involved, the almost unbelievable feature, which is in store for this method of communication, may probably be forgiven for modifying Morse's memorable message "What Hath God Wrought" to "What Hath God Not Wrought."

THREATENING LETTER
SENT ACQUITT MAN
Winipeg, Nov. 24.—"You will die from bullet wounds, the same as poor Ned Martin did. Bullets will get you. Don't forget that."

This is the text of one of the threatening letters received by George Knudsen, of Ingot, Ont., who was recently acquitted by jury of murdering Ned Martin at Ingot on May 18, last.

The letter has been translated to the attorney-general of Ontario, and the attention of the Manitoba authorities also drawn to it, says the Tribune today.

CHILDERS IS EXECUTED FIRST DIVISION GIVES BY FREE STATE PREMIER MAJORITY OF 103

Having Automatic Pistol in His Possession Charge in Indictment

Dublin, November 24.—Erskine Childers was executed at 7 o'clock this morning for having had an automatic pistol in his possession, it is announced in an official bulletin given out by the National army.

Erskine Childers, a lieutenant-commander in the Irish republican army, and one of the right-hand men of Ramon De Valera, was placed on trial before a military tribunal in Dublin on November 17, on a charge that he had a pistol in his possession when arrested at Wicklow by Free State forces on November 10.

The Irish tried two days. Childers, who was 35 years old, appealed through counsel for a writ of habeas corpus, which was denied yesterday by the master of the rolls. He then appealed to the court of appeals for Southern Ireland.

Strong Republican
Childers was an ardent proponent of an Irish republic, and strongly opposed ratification of the treaty setting up the Irish Free State, on the ground that it meant "absorption of Ireland in the British Empire."

He was defeated last June in the elections for the South Irish parliament, receiving fewer votes than any other candidate in the whole election.

Organized Irregulars
Early in the next month he was reported to be organizing a band of insurgents in the Dublin hills, and later in the summer commenced the band of irregulars who cut the cable in Valentia harbor.

Childers was educated at Trinity College, Cambridge. He served in the European war as a lieutenant-commander of the Royal Navy Volunteer Reserve, between January and May, 1916, and won the Distinguished Service Cross for his service with the anti-submarine forces.

Having Automatic Pistol in His Possession Charge in Indictment

Dublin, November 24.—Erskine Childers was executed at 7 o'clock this morning for having had an automatic pistol in his possession, it is announced in an official bulletin given out by the National army.

Erskine Childers, a lieutenant-commander in the Irish republican army, and one of the right-hand men of Ramon De Valera, was placed on trial before a military tribunal in Dublin on November 17, on a charge that he had a pistol in his possession when arrested at Wicklow by Free State forces on November 10.

The Irish tried two days. Childers, who was 35 years old, appealed through counsel for a writ of habeas corpus, which was denied yesterday by the master of the rolls. He then appealed to the court of appeals for Southern Ireland.

Strong Republican
Childers was an ardent proponent of an Irish republic, and strongly opposed ratification of the treaty setting up the Irish Free State, on the ground that it meant "absorption of Ireland in the British Empire."

He was defeated last June in the elections for the South Irish parliament, receiving fewer votes than any other candidate in the whole election.

Organized Irregulars
Early in the next month he was reported to be organizing a band of insurgents in the Dublin hills, and later in the summer commenced the band of irregulars who cut the cable in Valentia harbor.

Childers was educated at Trinity College, Cambridge. He served in the European war as a lieutenant-commander of the Royal Navy Volunteer Reserve, between January and May, 1916, and won the Distinguished Service Cross for his service with the anti-submarine forces.

SCOTLAND NOT LIKELY TO GO DRY FOR YEARS

While leading prohibition workers have made the statement that Scotland would go dry within the next twelve years, Sir John Dickson, in an address before the Rotary club at luncheon Thursday, declared that so far as he could determine that country is becoming wetter in every way, every year.

Mr. Dickson, accompanied by Mrs. Dickson, toured Scotland, England and France during the past summer. His address was on account of his trip.

Scotland has seventeen good reasons for drinking whiskey other than as a beverage, and the least of these reasons was that it does no one any harm. Prohibition would make very slow headway in Scotland, Mr. Dickson said.

As a result of Great Britain taking German merchant vessels in reparation payment, the large ship building yards in Scotland had been closed and there was considerable unemployment. The closing of the ship building yards was resented very much, the speaker said.

Continuing the speaker said that while in France he had been struck by the fact that whiskers were becoming the vogue, and long hair were very common and considered quite the correct thing. The short skirts that Paris is said to be flooded with, Mr. Dickson said were not in evidence to the same extent he had expected. As a matter of fact the styles were very modest.

There will be an effort made to put Alberta turkeys on the New York market for Christmas this year. Usually the western turkeys go to Chicago and the Middle West, but this year an effort will be made to send some right through for New York and Boston Christmas dinners.

The price for early shipments of country dressed will probably be around 75c to 85c for No. 1 birds. In order to get on the eastern market, however, it will be necessary to ship from here not later than December 3, which means that the birds will have to be assembled here by Dec. 1.

Grease and lard are still being quoted at 12c for No. 1 and the receipts are very good. Fowl prices are unchanged and the movement of stock fair.

CRIME IN THE WEST.

In recent months there have appeared in the press of Western Canada reports of murders, bank robberies, and other crimes on a scale and of a character calculated to cause uneasiness to thoughtful citizens. One of the distinguishing marks of a civilized community is its capacity to maintain peace and order within its boundaries. Hitherto Western Canada, in spite of conditions which might well have lent themselves to disorder, has been creditably free from such, and any deterioration in this respect must receive careful attention.

Such deterioration may be due to temporary causes, which may be expected in course of time to cease to operate. The great war is perhaps such a cause. It accustomed men to bloodshed, violence and contempt for private property and for civilian law as opposed to summary martial law. There is perhaps a tendency for such men to import into civilian life the habits learned in war time, though on the other hand it must be remembered that those habits included discipline and self-control, which are not characteristic of crime.

The introduction of prohibition has certainly given rise to a great deal of crime, sometimes of a technical nature, but more often of a moral character. It is to be deplored even if it is not altogether morally indefensible in itself. This very difficult and controversial question cannot be discussed in the space now at our command.

The suppression in most of its former duties of the North West Mounted Police, with its high prestige, has perhaps given some encouragement to the criminal elements in the country who have not yet acquired the respect for the Provincial Police which it is to be hoped they will hereafter.

In the last resort, however, the presence or absence of crime in a community depends on the attitude of the individual citizen towards crime. If that attitude is indifferent or weakly sympathetic, crime will increase in spite of all the efforts of governing authorities, and in a community like ours, where the government fairly closely represents the feelings of the community, laxness towards crime on the part of the public will soon reflect itself in the attitude of the authorities.

It lies with the individual citizen to maintain to the utmost the standard of law and order by himself observing the law, and the whole law, irrespective of whether he approves or disapproves of any part of it, by doing his duty as witness or juror, man in criminal trials with neither fear, favour nor undue sympathy, and by supporting, wholeheartedly, the public authorities, the police, magistrates and judges in the rightful administration of the law.

THE POSITION OF OUR TOWNS

We have had to record of late the departure of a number of residents from Red Deer to other districts, and their places have not all been taken by new arrivals. It seems that for the time being Red Deer is not growing in population. We understand that other towns of the province are having the same experience. The reason is probably the same in all cases—bad business conditions causing a lack of employment in our towns generally. Perhaps, however, we have not yet been rid of the artificial condition of the boom days, when our towns were full of non-productive middlemen, and the exchange and turning over of money brought in by newcomers to the West. The existence of these middlemen gave rise to the opening of too many stores, and the employment in them of too large staffs. The collapse of the boom and the disturbance and depression resulting from the war, have compelled many residents in towns to go elsewhere to find work, and this has naturally reduced the volume of business in the stores and offices of the towns.

It is to be feared that Red Deer, which was affected by the boom, too, has been developed on a scale beyond what was justified by the permanent business attaching to it, and that until new developments, now in sight, take place, we must reconcile ourselves to having a smaller population than we have had in the past. That does not mean that the city need be in a depressed or backward condition. On the contrary, a community of smaller population,

DOES NOT AGREE WITH EVANGELINE

Dear Sir—
I have read the letter, signed Evangeline Smythe, in your issue of last week. In fact, I have read it several times. I am a fair-minded woman, and I have endeavored to find some justification for the lack of such an epistle on the public. The letter does not express the views of one woman in a thousand, and will give the men in our midst the occasion for pointing the finger of scorn at our sex. What a theme for the Eye-Opener. I do not know Evangeline Smythe. I do not want to know her, and I sympathize heartily with any men she may allude by her brazen, unwomanly advances.

AFFRONTED.

A MARRIED MAN'S OPINION

To the Editor of The News:
That opportunity knocks only once at every man's door is now without doubt an exploded theory. Evangeline Smythe's letter in last week's News surely must, to the thoughtful-minded "more men," give added weight to the contention of Sir Walter Scott that upon knocking for the first time, and being denied admittance, opportunity does not immediately take wings, but rather, hovers round our portals and watches for a chance to get in, whether or no.

Judging by comments overheard, the above seemed to be the first impression created in the minds of your bachelor readers, when they read the intrepid Evangeline's communication, in which she advanced the opinion that the emancipation of women should be turned another notch to include a privilege having to do with an unheard of familiarity with good old Father Hymen—in short, for the benefit of those who did not read her letter, Evangeline says women should have the privilege of proposing.

First impressions are sometimes feeling impressions, and the enthusiasm engendered in the minds of the bachelors at the first gliding tidings of Evangeline, seems to be on the wane. Incredulity is replacing gladness.

Deaths are already being expressed as to the possibility of the successful working of the Evangeline system. A gentleman of my acquaintance, who has an unusually resourceful mind, argues convincingly against the adoption of the Evangeline plan, on the grounds that even were Evangeline accorded the privilege she craves, how could a "more man" stop a woman in talking when once she got started, and if he couldn't get a word in edgewise, naturally his silence would mean great Caesar's Ghost! Also this man is genuinely worried over the possibility of Evangeline not being the possessor of the intellect of such a woman in a thousand, and the consequent embarrassment involved in being obliged to bring bread-of-promises proceedings against the namesake of one whose memory he holds in such high esteem.

innocent direction. Let all the young bachelors, also the old ones, rise up and bestir themselves, for this is a condition, ladies and gentlemen, which should never be allowed to exist in a free and enlightened country. The word "ladies" is used adversely. They may be able to help find Evangeline.

Granting that Evangeline, in writing her letter, has been actuated by the purest and simplest motives, and while refusing to let a single vulgar thought intrude, nevertheless, it is too bad if the young fellows do not see to it that she has one little diffidence before she gets in league with

Mr. Hymen. To accomplish this Evangeline must be found. To inspire some young man to compass this and not with any intention to offend Evangeline's aesthetic sensibilities, the liberty is taken to paraphrase one Touchstone of tender recollection by substituting "Evangeline for Rosalind. It is to be hoped it has the desired effect upon the bachelors:

"If a hart do lack a hind,
Let him seek out Evangeline.
If the cat will after kind,
So be sure will Evangeline.
Winter garments must be lined
So must slender Evangeline."

They that reap must shear and bind,
Then to cart with Evangeline.
Sweetest but hath sourest rind,
Such a nut is Evangeline.
Apologizing for hiding behind a nom de plume, because this contribution to the uplifting of mankind through the instrumentality of Evangeline, is from one who must needs sign himself—

BENEDICTINO.

TOYVILLE OPENS!

Hearken to The
Lord Mayor of Toyville

OYEZ! OYEZ!
All Good People

Whereas on Thursday morning, the thirtieth day of November, in the year of grace, one thousand, nine hundred and twenty two, at the ninth hour, our ancient city of Toyville will be opened, we hereby proclaim a playful holiday.

And we hereby bestow the key of the City upon all our loving children between the ages of one and one-and-ninety.

And we hereby moreover command that all our faithful burghesses shall take their children upon their knees and recite unto them as follows:

All children great and small

Come listen to my call!

Tomorrow morn at 9 o'clock

To Toyville every child must flock;

So into bed just climb—

Then you'll be here in time.

There's electric trains and submarines,

And building blocks and wash machines.

There's Bonnie Kars that ring,

For baby there's a swing;

And climbing bears and monkeys, too,

Fierce tigers, lions, from the Zoo;

And dainty dolls that talk

And shut their eyes and walk.

There's games and tricks and blocks to build,

And Noah's arks with creatures filled;

Dolls carriages to wheel,

And jumping jacks that squeal.

Brave soldiers marching off to war,

A box with hammer, chisel, saw;

Big ships with flowing sails,

And useful dolls' house-scales.

There's motor cars and drums to beat,

And balls to play with in the street.

There's drums and trumpets loud,

And dolls dressed up so proud;

Pianos, elephants and books,

And kitchen stoves for little cooks.

There's bicycles and skates,

And saucers, cups and plates.

There's carts and horses, dogs and cats,

And baseball mitts and baseball bats.

There's aeroplanes that fly,

And baby dolls that cry—

In fact there's every sort of toy,

For every girl and every boy.

W. C. T. U. MEDAL CONTEST

The W.C.T.U. Medal Contest, in the School Assembly Hall, Friday evening, was a decided success, and congratulations are due Mrs. Houston, Medal Contest Superintendent, who had charge of the program. The play, "Prohibition Mother Goose," delighted the audience, each of the four children taking his or her part without a mistake. Among the most interesting characters of the play might be mentioned the Fly (Little Billy Muir), Jack and Jill (Leanne and Douglas Stephenson), Simple Simon (Frederick Wright), Miss Muffet (Adeline Stephenson), to say nothing of George Fergie, The Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe, and many others.

In elocution, nine children competed in the younger class, the medal being carried off by Phyllis Halliburton, 8 years old, whose Lament for Brother Bill, who had unconsciously grown to be a boy, was truly pathetic. In the older classes, seven competing, the medal was won by Donald Halliburton, 5 years old, who portrayed with dramatic clearness, a fight between two boys. The children in both classes did creditably, due to the excellent training of Miss Smith (South School), and Miss Ebert (Central School), who trained the younger and older classes respectively. G. W. Smith, M.P.P., Mrs. McEwen and Miss Fash very kindly acted as judges.

The musical part of the program was taken by Misses Barbara Bannerman, Ola Dale, Vera Houston, Lois Humber, Annie Skeen, while Miss Zelma Moyes played the National Anthem.

200,000,000 BUSHELS CROP MOVEMENT IS LATEST FORECAST

Ottawa, Nov. 2.—A crop movement of two hundred million bushels by the end of the season of navigation is forecasted by the board of grain commissioners, who are here in consultation with several departments of the government. So far, 135 million bushels have gone through Port William, and seven millions through Vancouver. The permission given to American vessels to carry grain on their last trip will provide storage for twelve million bushels.

DELBURNE HOTEL DESTROYED BY FIRE

Delburne, Alta., Nov. 24.—Thought to have started behind the kitchen range about 1 o'clock this morning, fire destroyed the Delburne hotel and contents. Flames spread to, and gutted, the post office and a new dwelling behind, nearly completed by the postmaster, L. E. Maynard. The chemical engine saved Smith's machinery warehouse, which was next in line and stayed any further spread of the fire. The property loss is about $3,000, with total insurance of $5,000. The hotel was owned by W. R. Leach.

Announcing A New Department

In the past we have always confined our business to the buying and selling of new furniture. We now purpose opening an exchange department in connection with our business, where you will be able, at a small additional expense, to exchange your old furniture for new goods.

For years the public have been exchanging automobiles, pianos, sewing machines, gramophones, etc.

WHY NOT EXCHANGE YOUR FURNITURE?

We believe that there are hundreds of people who have many old pieces of furniture of which they are tired of, which they would gladly exchange for something new, if they had the chance.

Many women have expressed their desire to own a new Chesterfield Suite for the livingroom, a new Davenport bed, a new chair or table, but have delayed purchasing same because they do not know how to dispose of the goods they already have.

Take a look around your home and make a note of the many pieces that you have had for many years, which you would like to exchange for something new and up-to-date, and then come in and talk the matter over with us. If we have not got just what you want in stock, we will get it for you at a reasonable price, and allow you a fair exchange price for your old goods.

EXAMINER'S REVIEW OF PROVINCIAL MARKETS

Calgary, November 23.

Cattle—After a somewhat drab market, Calgary picked up on Wednesday, and there was better selling at slightly improved prices on the good ones, but feeders and stockers were weaker. Choice heavy steers, $4 to $4.35; choice light, $3.75 to $4; good, $3 to $3.50; medium, $2.25 to $2.75; common, $1.25 to $2.25. Choice cows, $2.25 to $2.50; good, $1.75 to $2.25; medium, $1.25 to $1.75; common, $1 to $1.25; canners, 75c to $1. Choice heifers make up to $3.25. Bulls are not selling just as well this week; hard to get over $1.75; common and plain, $1 to $1.50. Calves made up to $3 Wednesday; common, $1 to $2. Feeder, Stockers—Feeders selling lower at $2.50 to $2.75; though choice ones might make $3.50. Stocker steers, $2 to $3. Stocker heifers in better demand; tops at $2.25; plain ones, $1.50.

to $2. Stocker cows, $1 to $2. Beef—Top cattle have been bringing a better price at Edmonton, with a few steers at $5, but the ordinary top price on heavy steers, $4 to $4.50; choice light, $3.75 to $4; good, $3 to $3.50; medium, $2 to $2.75; common, $1.25 to $2. Choice cows, $2.25 to $2.50; good, $1.75 to $2.25; medium, $1.25 to $1.75; common, $1 to $1.25; canners, 75c to $1. Choice heifers make up to $3.25. Bulls are not selling just as well this week; hard to get over $1.75; common and plain, $1 to $1.50. Calves made up to $3 Wednesday; common, $1 to $2. Feeder, Stockers—Feeders selling lower at $2.50 to $2.75; though choice ones might make $3.50. Stocker steers, $2 to $3. Stocker heifers in better demand; tops at $2.25; plain ones, $1.50.

Hogs—Receipts at Calgary showing some increase; basic price during week $3.50 to $3.60, with 10 percent premium on select bacon. Shop hogs cut $1. Today's price, $3.25 to $3.50. Prices at Edmonton have been holding fairly steady up to Wednesday, when the basic price went down to $3.25; select bacon premiums from $3.50 to $3.60.

Sheep—Choice lambs at Calgary up to $5.50; plain down to $7.25; wethers, $7; ewes up to $5.50.

Sheep have been moving steadily at Edmonton, with lambs making up to $5.50; wethers from $7.50 down; and ewes, according to quality, from $3.50 to $5.

Grain—There was quite a revival in the grain prices during the week, and also some reaction, and at no time was the grain trade exactly able to account for the strength which was shown. However, the exporters were willing to buy for a time, and when the prices went too high they apparently thought it was time to drop out of the market. There will be quite a rush from now until the close of navigation to get as much grain out of the lake terminals as possible.

Produce—Poultry—Alberta dealers still unable to place definite orders for anything like quantity of available turkeys; dressed birds quoted 25c to 27c; live, 18c to 22c; some will be required for coast trade, but dealers there unwilling to quote prices; possibility of eastern shipping unknown until quantity shipped from there to U.S. is determined; advisable to get shipments in before middle of December; fowl unchanged at 7c to 18c.

chickens, 9c to 12c; ducks and geese, 8c to 12c; live, dressed, fowl and chicken, 12c to 18c; geese and ducks, 15c to 18c. Creamery Butter—Unchanged; cartons, 35c to 41c on No. 1 and No. 2; bulk price, basic specials, 34c to 35c. Dairy Butter—Fancy prices eased down to 28c to 30c; grades quoted by dealers from 26c down. Butterfat—Unchanged, receipts showing slight reduction; prices will be governed by butter prices. Potatoes—Unchanged; market slow, $16 to $18 quoted on Calgary deliveries, demand very limited.

Hay—Snow flurries started a little business with dealers, but not very much; prices unchanged, with dealers buying upland at country points, $10.50 to $12; good, $10 to $11; timothy at $24 to $25 to growers, country points. Hay—Unchanged.

Coyotes are still popular, and there are a lot being taken since prices advanced; Calgary dealers quote from $12 down, with some of the poor pelts at $5.

R. S. LAW SUCCEEDS FREEM AS SECRETARY OF U. G. G.

R. S. Law, assistant to General Manager Cecil Rice-Jones, has been appointed secretary of the United Grain Growers' Limited, succeeding E. J. Freeman, who has been appointed a member of the Alberta Public Utility Board. Mr. Law has been in the head office at Winnipeg for the last two years, and previously was located at Clarendon, Alberta, where he was secretary to the Clarendon Farmers' Co-operative Association. He was also connected with the Alberta Farmers' Co-operative Elevator Company since its organization in 1915. He was at one time a director of the United Farmers of Alberta. Mr. Law is English by birth and has been in the west about twenty years. It has not been decided whether the office of secretary will remain in Calgary or be located in Winnipeg.

"I JUST HAD TO WRITE"

To the Editor of The News.

Dear Sir—

I have always tried to avoid a personal quarrel, and especially in the press. I have tried to express as best I could my opinion of prohibition and matters pertaining to prohibition, without attacking anyone personally. It is true, perhaps, that I have been outspoken about prohibitionists as a whole. I think I or anyone has a right to, because they are an original group, with the expressed purpose of making laws to govern our lives, our homes, and our children and our children's homes. It seems, however, that there are some men so unscrupulous as to consider it almost a crime to criticize our present prohibition laws, and it also appears to me that since A. W. Martin has taken the matter up with me I have been pretty hard pressed to answer back, although it is very unpleasant for me to do so.

It was in the Red Deer Advocate of January 25th, 1921, that Mr. W. G. Brown first criticized me (in an uncompromising manner) on my stand on prohibition. I did not answer back. Some time after that he answered me again, knocking me a little harder. I have forgotten which of the Red Deer papers his "answer" was in, but the files will show.

I remember that in that letter he expressed a doubt that the wine that Christ made for the disciples and which was not wine, did not answer Mr. Brown personally. Someone with whom I am not acquainted, I think, and I do not know, answered Mr. Brown in my defence (for which I was very grateful), and so ended the matter at that time.

A friend of mine, a minister, and a prohibitionist, intimated to me that he was afraid to "answer" Mr. Brown. It is possible the others thought so; it is possible that Mr. Brown thought so; and I have been wondering if it was this thought that gave Mr. Brown his inspiration when he said in his letter of November 7, 1922, that shows what a brave man he (Mr. Wilton) is.

Mr. Brown thinks that it is because I am afraid of him that I have not "slammed" him through the press, he has not taken my measure correctly.

I am not afraid of Mr. Brown; not afraid to meet him in debate in the press or on the platform. Now, as I mean I am not afraid because I know any side of this question, and will win in the end. I do not think for a moment that I am a match for Mr. Brown, but I am not afraid of him, or of other men, and so I am going to answer Mr. Brown's letter to your paper of Nov. 19, 1922, but hope I will not stir up a riot.

Mr. Editor, I cannot recall my ever mentioning Mr. Brown's name in the press. I am almost positive that I have never written his name until today, and so his letter which appeared in your paper of Nov. 19, 1922, must have been made up largely of his imaginations. He failed to tell your readers why he was so sure that he was the "one friend" I mentioned in my letter. I did not say in my letter that he was. I think I had a right to speak of the friends of Mr. Martin, and I had the right to have one friend to help him. Why was Mr. Brown so quick to tell to this himself? He has made this clear. Again, Mr. Brown must have depended on his imagination when he said that I had declared that my mind could not be changed on this question. I did not say that, as my letter will show. No, I have an open mind, and just so soon as Mr. Brown or anyone will show me that I am wrong on this matter, not as soon as they show me that I must support prohibition as we have it today, that it is the best for the animals and the finances and the peace of the country, and that it is my Christian duty to support it, I will do so with all the strength of my manhood.

What I said was this: "My prohibition friends, you can pour out your vituperations as much as you wish, you cannot change my attitude toward this question by that method." To those men and women that have read the letters that have appeared in the Red Deer press, including Mr. Brown's, in favor of our present day prohibition, I wish to submit that they go a long way to strengthen my argument that prohibition and Christianity, as taught by the New Testament, cannot mix—the one will crowd the other out every time. I thank Mr. Brown for his letter. It is another testimony that prohibition is un-Christian as Christianity is taught by the Bible. Prohibitionists have set up a new Christianity to suit their whims.

If Mr. Brown is not the "one friend," he is certainly identified with the prohibitionists of Red Deer, and I asked them to be kind enough and fair enough to specify one or two of my statements, which they have called "wild," and said that I could not substantiate, and give me a chance to prove them; but Mr. Brown did not do so, and yet he is a great debater both on the platform and in the press.

Mr. Brown is "hooked half to death" because he can say that in the two provinces not under prohibition the number of convictions for the violations of the law governing the sale of habit-forming drugs was over 500 out of 845 for all Canada, proving, as he thinks, that where liquor is sold without anyone making a seal of themselves, there the 6-2 habit flourishes. Why did Mr. Brown tell it all? Why did he not tell that out of the 845 convictions in all Canada 624 were Chinese? Would it not appear that where the Chinese were the most numerous the drug traffic flourished the best? There were 815 convictions in B.C., 300 Chinese and 15 non-Chinese. If Alberta could change places with B.C. and become a coast province, how would the Chinese stand? Where do prohibitionists see any convincing evidence in those figures? What about the prohibitionists filling up so fast under prohibition? Prohibitionists have been telling a convincing people that the prisons would soon be empty and closed up. If Mr. Brown is such a plant on debate, there is lots to explain; he had better get busy.

I wonder if the Rev. Mr. Brown will allow the good people of Red Deer to sing that good old hymn: "I have reached the land of corn and wine."

SIX HUNDRED KILLED IN EARTHQUAKE LOSS

Santiago, Chile, Nov. 23.—Although complete official figures are still lacking, a conservative estimate of the loss of life in the provinces of Coquimbo and Atacama caused by the recent earthquake is 600 killed and from 1,500 to 1,600 injured, while the material loss to private individuals is about fifty million pesos.

National Industries--

Your Security

If you believe in the future of Canada, you can have full confidence in her basic industries. The Corporation bonds we offer are first mortgages, and therefore a first call, upon such properties, valued at many times the bond issue. In addition, the companies have proved their ability to earn bond interest over and over again.

See Us for a list of industrial bonds paying 6½% and over.

Shopping Carnival Offerings

FROM THE STORE OF "GIFTS THAT LAST"

Earrings

Dame Fashion decrees that every well dressed woman shall wear earrings this fall.
The long drops in Pearl, Black or Jade with dainty supporting chains in gold or silver, or the more massive hoop styles are the special favorites.
Our stock ranges in price from $1.00 to $12.00 per pair

Vanity Cases

We have a very special showing ranging from the dainty trinket to be worn on Missy's little finger at the dance, to the more elaborate piece combining VANITY COIN PURSE AND CARD CASE, in sterling silver for afternoon use. These are moderately priced from $1.00 to $25.00

Wrist Watches

Our stock is very extensive, and specially well selected this fall. The trend of fashion runs towards the oblong and cushion shapes in green and white gold with ribbon bracelets. We stock nothing below the finest jewel grades. All attractively priced from $16.00 to $75.00

The Pearl Strand

This year we are offering "THE BLUEBIRD", a Pearl which like the genuine Oriental improves with age, and is sold under our absolute guarantee against peeling. Made in the same way as the genuine pearl, that is by building layer on layer. We can advise as to the correct length, that and size of pearl to suit the different complexion, hair and stature. Prices range from $6.00 to $75.00

Watches for Men

Our thin models enameled in green and white gold of ornate design, with wadman and manure knife complete. A gift which would be cherished for years to come, not only for its beauty of design and construction, but for its usefulness. Truly a "gift that lasts." Only reliable makes.
Priced reasonably from $25.00 to $100.00
These are but a few of our gift suggestions. Visit our store and let us solve your gift problems. We have helped others—let us help you. It is a pleasure.

The phrase "all star" has been much abused, but the cast of "The Old Homestead," which comes to the Rex Theatre next Monday may truthfully be said to be that of an all-star.

Theodore Roberts, George Fawcett, T. Roy Barnes, Fritz Ridgway, Hans Ford, Kathleen O'Connor, James Mason, Ethel Wales and others make up a list that is hard to surpass.

"IF YOU BELIEVE IT, IT'S SO," COMING.

Perley Poore Sheehan's widely-read novel, "If You Believe It, It's So" has reached the screen as a Paramount picture with Thomas Meighan as the star. The story of a young city crook who finds peace and happiness in the country, is delightfully told by a cast of players which includes, in addition to the star, Theodore Roberts, Pauline Starobin, J. Duvall, and Charles Ogle. The picture comes to the Rex Theatre, Saturday night, and Manager Brewster, who enjoyed a review of it, is enthusiastic about it.
